FAIR AS GOOD AS FIRST

Great Crowd Attends Final Program of Best Gathering Ever Held in Gem City.

BALL GAMES AND ROUGH RIDING TODAY

Attendance Sunday Was Very Large and Enjoyment Marked Everyone's Path---Little City Has Certainly Sustained Her Reputation.

Socorro, N. M., Sept. 30.—(Spec-ial.)—The last day of the Socorro county fair was as good as the first. That is a fact seldom true of other fairs, but Socorro certainly deserves fairs, but Socorro certainly deserves credit for the manner in which she has sustained her reputation in every respect. That the Gem Cliy is thoroughly awake is undoubted by anyone who saw the manner in which she entertained more people than could comfortably crowd her streets during the past three days.

Today, the last day, the crowd was as large as one the preceding days, and despite the fact that there had been two days and nights of soild enfoyment, the third day was not 2 bit less pleasant.

Baseball games, broache busting roping and similar athletis contests marked the day, while various kinds of amusements kept up their irresistible attraction for the throng.

The fair is nearing a close and tonight will end the first exhibition of that nature in the history of the rejuvenated Socorgo, but next year it will be greater than ever.

Sunday's program was another en-

Sunday's program was another enjoyable feature of the fair. The annual feast of San Miguel, the patron saint of Socorco, with the attendant religious ceremonies attracted the attention of thousands, in addition to the thousands who witnessed the other attractions of the day.

The sports at the fair grounds were first class. Barelas played Socorro during the morning in the amateur championship tournament and lost by a score of 3 to 2 after the hottest kind of a contest.

buquerque Browns was a first class exhibition, but not as close as the game of the morning.

Following the ball game several outlaw horses were ridden in front of the grand stand.

The trap shooting tournament took place after the broncho busting. A large number of shooting ing. A large number of shooters were present and some very good scores were made. A grand display of fireworks concluded the night program.

The crowd Sunday included peo-ple from all parts of the territory. Hundreds came on the special from Albuquerque and intermediate points and hundreds more came from the other direction, while horses and even old time ox outfits brought in hundreds more.

Socorro 3: Barelas 2.

The inability of Barelas to hit Chas. Rhoades when hits were needed, gave Socorro the first game yesterday by a score of 3 to 2. But the state of the second se terday by a score of 2 to 2. But thirty-two men faced the little St. Louis Giant, and but half of this number connected with the ball, only five safely. While Galgano was hit more frequently than Rhoades, the Browns' crack pitcher had the Gem City aggregation wholly at his mercy. Owing to the weakness of the support, the game was a pitch-ers' battle. Galgano struck out ter batsmen bad five assists and made

During the past twenty-four hours trains that rolled into Canton carried tens of thousands who came to pay a final tribute to the memory of the great son of Ohio.

Hours before the time set for the parade every available space on the line of march was filled. When his train, due at 10:11 a. m., arrived, the president and his party were escorted to the reviewing stand, the carriages passing among crowds of school children who were given a holiday in honor of this great historical event.

The parade started at 10:45. At 12:30 the president was escorted to the Auditorium for luncheon, and a half hour later started for the speaker's stand, where the exercises began at 1:45.

Supreme Justice Wm. R. Day, president of the McKinley National Memorial association, called the meeting to order and introduced Gov. A. L. Harris, of Ohio, as president of the day. After the invocation by Rev. Frank M. Bristol, D. D., of the Metropolitan M. E. Church, Washington, D. C., Governor Harris made the opening address.

President Roosevelt's appearance was greeted with that enthusiasm and respect which he always calls forth, and he spoke as follows, with frequent interruptions of applause:

Roosevelt's Address.

"We have gathered together today to pay our meed of respect and affection to the memory of William Mc-Kinley, who as president won a place in the hearts of the American people with a but here a force of the second in the hearts of the American people such as but three or four of all the presidents of this country have ever won. He was of singular uprightness and purity of character, alike in public and in private life; a citizen who loved peace, he did his duty faithfully and well for four years of war when the honor of the nation called him to arms. As congressman, as governor of his state, and finally as president, he rose to the foremost place among our statesmenreaching a position which would satisfy the keenest ambition; but he never lost that simple and thoughtful kindness toward every human being. kindness toward every human being, great or small, lofty or humble, with whom he was brought in contact, which so endeared him to our peowhich so endeared him to our peo-ple. He had to grapple with more serious and complex problems than any president since Lincoln, and yet, while meeting every demand of statesmanship, he continued to live a beautiful and touching family life, a life very healthy for this nation to see in its forement allows.

PASSENGER

Gopgright 1907 by ME Courtney. Monument to President McKinley Dedicated Today at His Home City, Canton, O.

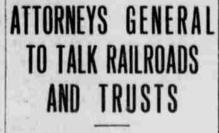

Monument to President president of the United States, a statesman singularly gifted to unite the discordant forces of the government and moid the diverse purposes of men toward progressive and salutary action, a magistrate whose polse of judgment has been tested and vindicated in a succession of national emergencies; good citizen, brave soldier, wise executive, helper and leader of men, exemplar to his people of the virtues that build and conserve the state, society and the home.

"Berkeley, May 15, 1901."
"It would be hard to imagine an epitaph which a good citizen would be more anxious to deserve or one which would more happily describe the qualities of that great and good citizen whose life we here commemorate. He possessed to a very extraordinary degree the gift of uniting discordant forces and securing from them a harmonious action which told for good government. From purposes not merch diverse but hitered them a harmonious action which told for good government. From purposes not merely diverse, but bitterly conflicting, he was able to secure healthful action for the good of the state. In both polse and judgment he rose level to the several emergencies he had to meet as leader of the nation, and like all men with the root of true greatness in them he grew to steadily larger stature under the stress of heavy responsibilities. He was a good citizen and a brave soldier, a chief executive whose wisdom entitled him to the trust which he received throughout the nation. received throughout the nation, was not only a leader of men preeminently a helper of men; one of his most marked traits a the intensely human quality of wide and deep sympathy. Finally not merely preached he was that he not merely preached, he was, that most valuable of all citizens in a democracy like ours, a man who in the highest place served as an unconscious example to his people of the virtues that build and conserve alike our public life, and the foundation of all public life, the intimate life of the home.

Lessons From His Career. "Many lessons from His Career, "Many lessons are taught us by his career, but none more valuable than the lesson of broad human sympathy for and among all of our citizens of all classes and creeds. No other president has ever more deserved to have his life work characterized in Lincoln's words as being carried or 'with malice toward none, with charity toward all.' As a boy he worked hard with his hands; he enworked hard with his hands; he entered the army as a private soldier; he knew poverty; he earned his own livelihood; and by his own exertions he finally rose to the position of a man of moderate means. Not merely was he in personal touch with farmer and town dweller, with capitalist and wageworker, but he felt an intimate understanding of each, and therefore an intimate sympathy with therefore an intimate sympathy with each; and his consistent effort was on hill, 135 miles southwest of St. cach; and his consistent effort was to try to judge all by the same standard and to treat all with the same justice. Arrogance toward the weak and envious hatred of those well off, were equally abhorrent to his just and gentle soul.

"Surely this attitude of his should be the attitude of all our people today. It would be a cruel disaster to this country to permit ourselves to the vicinity of the wreck today.

day. It would be a cruel disaster to this country to permit ourselves to adopt an attitude of hatred and envy toward success worthily won, toward wealth honestiy acquired. Let us in this respect profit by the example of the republics of this Western Hemisphere to the south of us. Some of these republics have prospered greatly; but there are certain ones that have lagged far behind that still continue in a condition of material poverty, of social and political unrest and confusion. Without exception the republics of the former class are those in which honest industry

MEETING PROMISES EXCELLENT RESULTS

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30 .- A convention of attorneys general, called on August 22 by a committee of which Attorney General Hadley of Missourl, is chairman, convened here today with attorneys general and dassistant attorneys general and assistant attorneys general present from twentytwo states. The purpose of the meeting is for a general discussion of anti-trust laws, railroad regulation, and state rights, and it is deemed probable that a permanent organization will be effected. The sessions will conclude tomorrow Statue on Steps of Monu-ment at Canton.

Its Probable Results.

It is expected that this session will result in considerable legislation looking toward the control of trusts by the state and federal authorities, the doing away with illegal combinations in restraint of trade and the proper curbing of the evil influences of certain great aggregations of capital. Railroads will also be looked over severely and each atorney genseverely and each atorney general is expected to present some cause why the railroads should or should not obey the two-cent fare laws now in operation in practically all of the states represented at this meeting. While Hadley has been the moving spirit, it is probable that some of the attorneys general of other states will be selected to hold the offices of the organization, as he has evinced a

OIL TRUST MAY 60 UNDER NEW CONTROL

Will Voluntarily Withdraw From Field. Turning Its Interests Over to New Company and New Men.

New York, Sept. 30 .- Frank

New York, Sept. 30.—Frank B. Kellogg, the government's counsel in the suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company, is expected to return to-day from Washington, where he went to report progress to Attorney General Bonaparte. The hearing in the case will be resumed Thursday. Meantime the government representatives are going over the books the company has placed at their disposal. Another examiner, it is announced, will be appointed by the Missouri court to sit with Examiner Ferris in taking the testimony. The Ferris in taking the testimony. The hearings here will probably last at least two weeks longer.

Then testimony will be taken in Washington, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Loy.s.

Sensation Expected Mr. Kellogg told a party of friends prior to his departure to Washington that he expected a sensation when the reports of the experts now at work on the books of the oil trust are given to the examiner. He believes that a state of affairs in the financial and other departments of the Standard will be shown that will cause the trust to voluntarily relincause the trust to voluntarily relin-cause the trust to voluntarily relinquish its charter and turn its business over to men of avowed honorable reputation.

Mr. Kellogg has been very reticent in matters concerning this case, preferring to do his talking to witnesses as he examined them before nesses as he examined them before Examiner Ferris, but he is now will-ing to admit that he has the Stand-ard where he wants it.

Wm. Rockefeller to Testify. William Rockefeller will be called the stand during this week, unless other testimony takes more time than is generally expected. As a brother of John D., founder of the trust, and himself for years in its active management, his evidence is expected to be somewhat juley, and it is likely that he may refuse to answer some of the queries propounded to him.

Examination at Cleveland.

When Examiner Ferris goes to Cleveland, Ohlo, to take testimony, John D. Rockefeller will be a witness. Rockefeller lives near that city and has made public the fact that he will not dodge the service of a subpoena, but will rather welcome the chance to tell his connection with the oil trust. Just whether he will permit his memory to be any better than it was in Chicago when he appeared before Judge Landis, is a question, but Mr. Kellogg hopes to be able to liven up the old man's recollection sufficiently to get all the necessary details to throw the Standard out of existence.

LATTER READY FOR HARD CAMPAIGN

Possibility That Great Concern His Arrest Was Due to Desire of United Railroads Interests to Get Him Out of Frisco For a Time.

> San Francisco, Cal. Sept. 30 .- Assistant Attorney General Hency may institute criminal proceedings against Attorneys R. Porter Asher and Luther Brown, of the United Railcoads, for the part they played last week in the arrest of Fremont Older, managing editor of the Bulletin and his removal from the city and county without the privilege of ball. Hency said today that he is investigating the matter and if he finds that the law was broken he will take legal action.

Older's arrest caused a sensation as soon as it became generally known and it has added a lot of fire to the flame already burning beneath the United Railroads and the officials of that concern.

Older, in the Bulletin, has pursued a policy that has caused him to become an object of hatred to the graft gang. He has continually poured in red hot editorials and news features, and his management of the campaign against Schmits, Ruef, Calhoun and the other grafters has been such that it was deemed wisest, apparently, among that interest to get rid of him. The course they took was evidently suicidal, as he is now closely guarded to prevent a repetition of the arrest, and in case other warrants are sworn out for him, he will be taken from the officers immediately on habeas corpus wits.

How He Was Released. In order to secure Older's release it was necessary to rout a judge from his home and secure the pa-from his home and secure the papers in habeas corpus at Santa Barbara, word having been wired to an attorney there by Older's friends here. As soon as the train bearing Older reached Santa Barbara, an officer appeared and the prisoner was promptly turned over to him. As soon as formalities were completed with, he was released and at once returned to San Francisco.

The fact that his enemies secured an auto and took him out of the city to an outside station before boarding the train showed their object. Older denies that he made any resistence as he believed that useless, but he did warn a friend of the affair and it was through this friend that efforts were made resulting in his release.

More Bitter Than Ever.

More Bitter Than Ever. "The campaign against the grafters as far as I am able to wage it." said Mr. Older this afternoon, "will be far more bitter now than before this affair. Personally I do not care for the arrest for it was no disgrace. I have not libelled the United Rall-
